WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, July 11.

The House Committee which left here to-day to investigate the killing of the Carnegie workmen by Pinkerton's hirelings has it in its power to disprove the charge that is being made on all sides—that the politicians are more anxious to use the labor troubles at Homestead to make partisan capital than to aid in smoothing out matters. It also has it in its power to confirm those charges.

It is a great responsibility, and every act of the Committee will be carefully scrutinized by every intelligent man in the United States, a great majority of whom regard the issue at stake as away up and beyond the mere temporary advantage of any political party. It is expected that the Senate will also send out an investigating committee. Whatever may be the other results, one is certain, the employment of armed bodies of men by the Pinkertons or by any one else will be prohibited; upon that Congressional opinion is practically unanimous; if any killing has to be done let the regularly constituted authorities do it.

The preliminary skirmish in the silver campaign was easily won by the free-coinage men, and they appear to have the advantage in the fight, which will this week probably be fought to a finish. The Stewart Free-Coinage Bill has been favorably reported to the House without amendment, and the Committee on Rules, a majority of which are free-silver men, has adopted a continuing order for its consideration. This order will be reported to the House on Wednesday. The anti-silver men now profess to be confident that they can defeat the bill when it comes to a vote, and there is a rumor that enough silver Democrats have, at Mr. Cleveland's request, promised to absent themselves when the vote is taken on some of the various propositions that will be offered to allow the bill to be side-tracked for the session. I regard the bill as having at least six chances out of ten to pass, notwithstanding conflicting claims.

The bill providing for the use of an automatic car-coupler on all railway freight-cars employed in interstate commerce was passed by the House without opposition, under a suspension of the rules. In two annual messages to Congress the President has urged the necessity of a similar law to protect the lives and limbs of railway employees, and friends of the measure will try to get it through the Senate before adjournment.

It is now evident that the Democratic managers in that State do not consider the talk of the People's Party carrying Texas as wild as some other people have been disposed to do. It is at the urgent request of leading Texas Democrats that Senator Mills, who is considered very strong on the stump, has left his Congressional duties at this important juncture and gone to Texas to take the field against the People's Party.

The Senate paid Senator Hill the compliment of passing his bill changing the date for the dedication of the World's Fair buildings at Chicago, from October 12 to October 21 without referring it to a committee. The change was made at the request of those who wish to attend the celebration in New York city on the 12th and then get to Chicago in time for the dedication; besides, most people regard the 21st in our present calendar as the proper anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus.

There are a lot of people in Washington, not a few of them members of the Senate and House, who would name the same man if asked who had the very softest snap under the Government, and it would be Major or Professor Powell, as the speaker happened to call the Director of the U. S. Geological Survey. In the much abused name of science about $1,000,000 is appropriated, and it is always spent for the use of this bureau every year. It is always opposed by a strong minority, but owing to Major Powell's persuasive powers and his consummate knowledge of the ability of the average human being to absorb flattery, and some say to appreciate having control of certain sinecures under his bureau, it always gets a good majority in both House and Senate. When the last appropriation was being considered in the Senate Mr. Vest took occasion to say that the abolition of the bureau would be a good thing and that he had never known of one single practical result obtained by it. Senator Wolcott said the Geological Survey was a sort of close corporation which expended about a million dollars a year just as it saw fit. Senator Stewart said there was more humbug about it than about any other department of the Government; that its employees are known in the West as scientific tenderfeet, whose words are never believed about mines, because they never hit it once, and more of the same sort; but the appropriation went through by a vote of 31 to 21. Senator Wolcott afterwards introduced a resolution authorizing an investigation as to the usefulness and the necessity for the continuance of the Geological Survey, but there is not much probability of its being adopted.

The House and Senate are getting together on the various appropriation bills quite rapidly, and final adjournment does not look so far away as it did a few days ago.

The Lake Hopatcong, Morristown & New York R. R.

Work is still progressing on this new line, which is now steadily working its way toward Rockaway and Morristown. At Rockaway connection will be made with the Central Railroad of New Jersey for Lake Hopatcong, thus opening up to this popular summer resort a new and extensive field of patronage. At Morristown connection will be made with the Rockaway Valley Railroad, now about finished and in operation to Speedwell Pond.

Between Caldwell and Whippany some seventy-five men are employed on the line to Essex Falls, which latter place is the new suburb under the patronage of the Philadelphia millionaire, John R. Fell. This gentleman, with others, has purchased over one thousand acres of land between Caldwell and the Passaic River, and has already spent in development of the properties considerably more than $60,000, with the grading of wagon roads, putting in water, and sewage system, subscription to the railroad fund, etc.

At Essex Falls a new stone depot, costing some $4,000, is now completed, and the cars of the Erie Railroad are running to that point, making the whole investment on the part of Mr. Fell and others something over $250,000, including land.

Between Caldwell and Morristown, and between Caldwell and Rockaway, all rights of way that it is possible to secure free of cost, have been secured by agreement, to the Lake Hopatcong-Morristown Company, and in those cases where have thought they should be paid no difficulty has been encountered that will impede in any great measure the building of the road.

In view, then, of what has been accomplished on the east end of the Hopatcong-Morristown line by the Philadelphia syndicate at Essex Falls, of what has been accomplished by the Rockaway Valley Company on the west end of the line, in the completion of that road now almost to Morristown, of what has been accomplished in the free deeding of some seven miles of right of way in Hanover, Boonton and Rockaway townships, there is no longer any doubt of the future extension of the lines until the whole is completed.

Arrangements will be made at once to push on with three additional miles from Essex Falls to a point in Hanover township on the property of Mr. Harrison Ketcham, leaving only seven miles to build to join the Rockaway Valley road, and only ten miles to build to join the Central Railroad at Rockaway.

Ripans Tablets: a standard remedy

W. V. S. & Co.

Many times, since the Special Sale in our Cloak Department began we have gained customers through the glowing reports taken to them by people who made a purchase and went away delighted. What we say here doesn't convey the true greatness of this sale—you must SEE THE GOODS to realize it fully. It is evident already that none of these goods will be left to take into the new store. The prices are too tempting. The only thing we urge now is that you come to see us before the nicest things are gone.

Cast your eye upon this: New stylish Shirt Waists, 39c; Lawn and Cambric Waists, 49c; Satine and Bedford Cord Waists, 69c; White, Black and Figured Waists, 89c; Wrappers, 98c; Infants' Cloaks, $1.25; Wool Blouses, $1.36; Blazer Jackets, $1.98; Reefers, $2.25; Lined Cheviot Jackets, $3; Silk Waists, $3; Dusters, $1.75.

These prices are absolutely no indication of the value of the goods—you will admit that when you see them. We are simply making preparations for removal—that is all—and you will never regret it if you take advantage of this chance. Go upstairs for this department.
